Temperance Caucus.—An adjourned meeting of the friends of temperance was held, last evening, in the Representative's Hall at the State House, for the purpose of hearing the report of a committee of ten appointed at a previous meeting to take into consideration the propriety of making temperance nominations for model officers at the election which occurs to-morrow.

Whilst waiting for the chairman of the committee to come in, the Chairman, Mr. Mumford, proceeded to reply to some strictures on the resolutions offered by him at the meeting of Wednesday evening last, contained in an article published in the Daily News of yesterday over the signature of "X. M. N."

"Mr. M. commenced by saying that 'if we are to have a license law at all, the present one is perhaps as good as any that could be enacted, but the question before the Legislature and which is still before the people is not between a license law and free rum' as the writer of the statutes mis-represented, but between a license law and prohibition. He, for one, would admit that the present law, if properly executed, would be a terrible engine against the rum traffic—but this is not what we want, for we do not, as temperance men, want a license law at all, believing that it is wholly wrong to license indulgence under all circumstances.

Again, he denied that the operation of a license law which would close the lower class of dealers and create a monopoly of the trade upon which a few would fatten and grow rich, was any real help to the cause of temperance reform, as drunks were not manufactured in low groggeries, but began their downward career invariably in the gilded saloons of the upper class into which our young men are enticed to go and which they visit without shame. Mr. M. said that the article in question misrepresented both the letter and spirit of his resolutions as well as the views of others, in several important particulars, but especially in the allegation that the more radical portion of the temperance men demanded either prohibition or free rum. Even the present license law itself, if a board of aldermen could be found who would exercise the power vested in them by the law, and refuse to grant licenses, would become a prohibitory law. Mr. M. closed his remarks by reiterating that the question was simply between prohibition and license, and that he placed himself, as a conscientious temperance man, firmly on the ground that if the traffic in intoxicating liquors is injurious and wrong, the State has no right to license men to sell—that is, to license men to do wrong and to aid in the ruin of their fellow men.

The Secretary, Mr. Luke, replied to the remarks of Mr. Mumford. He said he did not rise to defend the "great unknown" who wrote the article in the News, but to give some reasons why the friends of temperance should be satisfied with the present law and give it a full trial, before insisting upon prohibition. The cause contained in the "resolutions" against the action of the late Legislature, he could not consent to, as he believed it to be undeserved. The Legislature of the State had given the petitions of the friends of temperance a respectful hearing, and in passing the license law, they did it in their wisdom, and were guided by the only sure light to all legislative proceedings—the light of experience. They had tried prohibitory law and it had failed to do good, not only, but had wrought evil. Mr. L. then stated some facts connected with the era of prohibition in Rhode Island to show that a faithful execution of the present law offered more promise for good to the cause of temperance than prohibitory law could do, until the public sentiment in the State shall undergo an entire change.

Mr. L. also remarked that a prohibitory law, in treating as not property that which the United States regards and taxes as property, is regarded a violation of the rights guaranteed by the Constitution, by many who are temperance men; and men pushed to the wall and their property destroyed under a prohibitory are regarded as martyrs to a spirit of persecution and callous sympathy which they can not gain under a license law. Again, Mr. L. said, the prescription of liquor dealers, as a class, as murderers and cut-throats was an impolicy. For while he conceded that the traffic was bad and productive of injury, yet there were men who were engaged in the trade, who in other respects were good citizens, good husbands and good fathers—indeed, good hearted men, given to charity and liberal in instances of public interest. They had their friends, and any thing like a persecution of this class of dealers would create a sympathy, even on the part of some who would favor the cause of temperance and lead it their side under other circumstances. At the time of prohibition before the State, the sympathies of those who were in favor of the temperance reform were alienated by what they deemed persecution of a class, under that law. Mr. L. closed by saying that while prohibition should be the ultimate goal of temperance efforts, his friends of the cause should be willing to bide their time, and making the best of the present law, labor with all their might to educate up the public mind to the standard of prohibition, at a future time when it would no longer be regarded as proscriptive or as a violation of the rights of property. The present efficient police system of the city is a guarantee that the law will be enforced and the Sunday traffic closed entirely, and be urged all interested in the cause to come forward to sustain the moral power exerted by the two societies of the Sons of Temperance and the Good Templars, by joining them and urging their sons to join them. When a young man can be made to feel that by indulging in habits of drinking he lessens his chances for success in life and violates the moral sense of the community, it will do more to restrain him, than any attempt to remove all temptation from his path—for, a man who can only right in the absence of all temptation is almost a creation of boplessness.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.—Schooner Presto, Briggs, from Cardona 5th inst., for Holmes' Hole, arrived here this morning with foresail split. Reports lost schooner Nicanor, of this port, full of water.

NOTICE OF JURISDICTION.—Otto Böhm was bound & coaled, yesterday, for keeping his shop open on the Sabbath, which he paid until many explosives were made by the different wards, such men as the temperance men could vote for, and to select delegates to replace those that were not such as could command their votes. This motion was carried, after the following gentlemen had been added to the committee:

1st Ward—John Pratt.
2d Ward—Randall P. Pease.
3d Ward—John Allan.
4th Ward—Christopher G. Handy.
5th Ward—Benjamin Sayer.

It was understood that no action was to be had in regard to the nomination for Mayor—that being left as it was left by the caucus of Saturday evening.

"TRAIN OF A CHILD IN THE WAY HE SHOULD GO."—The following is from the Providence Evening Press of the 18th inst., under the head of "Newport":

BIRTH ON A STEAMER.—A lady gave birth to a child on board the steamer Empire State on her passage from New York to Newport, Friday night.

No blame can be attached to those in charge of the train, the accident being a result of the recklessness of boys in regard to passing trains.

It is quite a common practice for boys to lay metal and other articles on the rails in front of an approaching train for the purpose of saving them fastened, and the most strenuous efforts on the part of no railroad officials have failed to check it. It would add much to the security of life and limb in that portion of the city if a policeman should be assigned a beat on the railroad from the depot on Long Wharf to Warren street, with instructions to arrest any boy found playing on the track of the railroad.

In this age of progress and new and startling phenomena, we are inclined to believe almost everything in the newspapers, but this is certainly a novel and remarkable physiological fact. We are familiar with democratic births and aristocratic state rooms upon the Summits and palaces of the upper class into which our young men are enticed to go and which they visit without shame. Mr. M. said that the article in question misrepresented both the letter and spirit of his resolutions as well as the views of others, in several important particulars, but especially in the allegation that the more radical portion of the temperance men demanded either prohibition or free rum. Even the present license law itself, if a board of aldermen could be found who would exercise the power vested in them by the law, and refuse to grant licenses, would become a prohibitory law. NOTIFICATIONS FOR ALDERMEN AND COUNCILMEN.—In the first ward last evening, there was no meeting for the nominations of Aldermen and Councilmen, but the following names are currently reported as the probable ticket of that ward:

For Aldermen—Pardon W. Stevens.

Councilmen—John O. Soddard, Thomas T. Carr.

The second ward held a meeting and made the following nominations:

For Alderman—Geo. Atvin Simmons.

For Councilmen—John T. Bush, Wm. H. Allen.

The Third ward made the following nominations:

For Alderman—Wm. G. Townsend.

Councilmen—R. J. Taylor, Thomas Gogginhall.

The fourth ward made the following nomination:

For Alderman—O. W. Underwood.

Councilmen—Nathan M. Chase, Stephen A. Newton.

The fifth ward held no meeting, but the following is noted as the probable ticket:

For Alderman—John G. Weaver.

For Councilmen—W. S. Cranston, Jr., Arnold L. Burdick.

The temperance men's Committee are in session to-day, but we have not yet learned what changes they intend to make in the nominations on tickets to be voted for by the men of their party.

MILITARY.—The parade of the Newport Light Infantry, Col. Tew, took place yesterday afternoon, the company forming into two battalions and making a fine display. Besides marching through the principal streets, there was a dress parade and battalion drill in Washington Square, in all of which the Company did themselves credit, eliciting the commendation of a large assemblage of spectators. It was a general remark that greater proficiency in military drill had rarely been exhibited in Newport. The band of the 3d Regiment U. S. Artillery furnished the music.

At the annual meeting of Newport Light Infantry held at their Armory last evening, the following gentlemen were chosen officers for the year ensuing:

Colonel—George W. Tew.

Lieut. Colonel—William S. Brownell.

Major—George H. Barker.

Captain—John W. Alderson.

1st Lieut & Q. M.—William J. Gerzans.

A NEW DIRECTORY.—The canvass of our city is now in progress preliminary to the publication of a new directory. It is under the direction of Mr. Boyd, the publisher of previous directories of this and other cities, and is a favorable medium for advertisers, as well as a source of information which every one wishes respecting persons, names, residences and families. We hope the agent will receive all desirable information and encouragement in his work.

EACH SATURDAY for April contains Don Gioia Scotti; Black Sheep, by Edmund Yates (Concluded); Modern Beau Brummell; The Left Slipper; Les Jeux Athletiques; Fleech and the Infernal Machine; Originality; Silicate or Silicates, by Henry Kingsley. Ch. XXXIX, XL Foreign Notes.

SNAFFLEY'S MINISTERS.—It is said, a young girl from Fall River accompanied this troupe to this city where they played last evening. Her mother comes down on the late train last evening, to quest of her, and with the aid of Officer Bamwood found her in Angledeck Hall. She was taken to charge by her mother.

MARCH 2

FOR SALE.—Peerless Cooking Stove.

Among the peculiar merits claimed for this stove is the complete ventilation and even temperature of the oven, making it a roasting rather than a baking oven, which is secured by a peculiarly constructed air-chamber, which heats the air as it passes down behind the fire pot and into the oven, causing the oven to bake or roast perfectly and evenly, a great desideratum with a careful housewife, the perfect control which can be kept over the fire, and its cleanliness. This stove works equally well with coal or wood. These stoves are of different sizes, and are made plain or as extensive top, the latter being made with a large reservoir for hot water on the top, and a warming closet underneath. Those of our readers who would like to keep up with the times would do well to call and examine this "Peerless stove."

FOR SALE.—Peerless Cooking Stove.

Among the peculiar merits claimed for this stove is the complete ventilation and even temperature of the oven, making it a roasting rather than a baking oven, which is secured by a peculiarly constructed air-chamber, which heats the air as it passes down behind the fire pot and into the oven, causing the oven to bake or roast perfectly and evenly, a great desideratum with a careful housewife, the perfect control which can be kept over the fire, and its cleanliness. This stove works equally well with coal or wood. These stoves are of different sizes, and are made plain or as extensive top, the latter being made with a large reservoir for hot water on the top, and a warming closet underneath. Those of our readers who would like to keep up with the times would do well to call and examine this "Peerless stove."
